Becauſe,my Lord,we would haue had you heard
The traitor ſpeake,and timerouſly confeſſe
The maner,and the purpoſe of his treaſon,
That you might well haue ſignified the ſame
Vnto the Citizens,who happily may
Miſconſter vs in him,and wayle his death.
Ma. But my good Lord,your graces word ſhall ſerue
As well as I had ſeene or heard him ſpeake,
And doubt you not,right noble Princes both,
But Ile acquaint your dutious citizens,
With all your iuſt proceedings in this cauſe.
Glo. And to that end we wiſhit your Lordſhip here,
To auoide the carping cenſures of the world.
Buc. But ſince you come too late of our intents,
Yet witneſſe what we did intend,and ſo my Lord adue.
Glo. After,after,coſen Buckingham. Exit Maior.
The Maior towards Guildhall hies him in all poſt,
There at your meeteſt aduantage of the time,
Inferre the baſtardy of Edwards children:
Tell them how Edward put to death a Cittizen,
Onely for ſaying he would make his ſonne
Heire to the Crowne,meaning (indeed) his houſe,
Which by the ſigne thereof was termed ſo.
Moreouer,vrge his hatefull luxurie,
And beſtiall appetite in change of luſt,
Which ſtretched to their ſeruants,daughters,wiues,
Euen where his luſtfull eye, or ſauage heart
Without controll lighted to make his prey:
Nay for a needle thus farre,come neere my perſon,
Tell them,when that my mother went with childe
Of that vnſatiate Edward,noble Yorke,
My princely father then had warres in France,
And by iuſt computation of the time,
Found,that the iſſue was not his begot,
Which well appeared in his lineaments,
Being nothing like the noble Duke my father:
But touch this ſparingly as it were farre off,
Becauſe you know,my Lord,my mother liues.

Buc.

Buc. Feare not,my Lord,Ile p
As if the golden fee for which I p
Were for my ſelfe.
Glo. If you thriue well,bring t
Where you ſhall finde me well a
With reuerend fathers and well
Buc. About three or foure a cl
What newes Guildhall affordeth
Glo. Now will I in to take ſom
To draw the brats of Clarence o
And to giue notice that no mane
At any time haue recourſe vnto t
Enter a Scriuener with a
This is the indictment of the goo
Which in a ſet hand fairely is engr
That it may be this day read ouer
And marke how well the ſequell
Eleuen houres I ſpent to write it o
Eor yeſternight by Catesby was it
The preſident was full as long a d
And yet within theſe fiue houres
Vntaynted,vnexamined,free,at
Heres a good world,the while. W
That ſees not this palpable denice
Yet whoſe ſo blinde but ſayes he f
Bad is the world,and all will come
When ſuch bad dealing muſt be ſ
Enter Gloſter at one dore,Bu
Glo. How now my Lord,what
Buc. Now by the holy mother
The Citizens are mumme,and ſpe
Glo. Toucht you the baſtardy o
Buc. I did,with the infatiate gr
His tyranny for trifles,his owne b
As being got,your father then in
Withall I did inferre your lienam
Being the right Ide a or your fathe
Both in your forme and noblenes

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Richard III (STC 22315) LONDON, 1598 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.46)